Behavior Based Safety Workshop

Understand why "Behavior-Based" Safety Management is getting results, when traditional approaches have failed. What are the concepts that provide the scientific basis for this approach to influencing employees' at-risk behaviors? Why do "tried and true" management techniques fail to control the risk taking that results in injuries?

Learn the Answers to These Questions and More, as You Are Shown How to Implement a Safety Program That Addresses the Root of Injury Causation.

Format:

The full seminar is structured as three, 3-hour sessions, that give you and your management team the knowledge and motivation to implement this modern approach to improved safety performance. After completing the seminar you can benefit from our implementation and consulting service.

Choose one, two, or all three sessions, to fit the needs of your organization.

Who Should Attend:

- ☞ Plant Managers
- ☞ Supervisors
- ☞ Workers with Safety Observation or Leadership Skills
